

The city can help you to break free from violence

A map to stop violence

Male violence against women and girls is gender-based violence and is not always easy to recognize. It can be physical, but also verbal, psychological and economic. It can occur at home or within a relationship. It can happen at work, in schools, in universities, or even online. It can put your life at risk. Slapping, threats, control, coercion, manipulation, and stalking are all forms of violence you can break free from.

The city can help you.

Here you will find a map of the Centers offering support in the area.

Together, we can break free from violence.

Information in different languages and contacts.

- Centers for Perpetrators of Violence
- LGBTQIA+ Centers

Anti-Violence Centers

If you feel affected by violent behavior, the metropolitan area of Bologna has a network of services to welcome, support, advise, guide, protect, and assist women through every step needed to break free from a violent situation and regain safety and autonomy.

Anti-Violence Centers are the first places to go for help. They provide free support and services while ensuring your privacy and anonymity. If you need a safe place to stay, there you will find information about women's shelters.

In each one of the Anti-Violence Centers, you will find these free services:

- Welcome desk
- 24/7 helpline
- Psychological support
- Legal advice
- Linguistic and cultural mediation
- Job orientation
- Information about shelter homes and other emergency accommodations in the metropolitan area of Bologna
